In particular, the regulations novelties were presented, relating to the manner of their implementation and methods of traffic police control in some countries.

The participants in their papers also emphasised the progress achieved in the field of road safety in Europe, as well as the following:

- road safety progress achieved in the reduction of traffic accidents number in Europe,
- the envisaged objectives in the field of road safety 2000-2010 haven't been achieved, but a significant reduction of traffic accidents number has been achieved,
- improved road users behaviour,
- EU set ambitious goals for the next decade 2011-2020,
- all European states should harmonise their respective national strategies.

To achieve such ambitious goals it is necessary to further improve the traffic policing.

Knowledge and experiences exchange will greatly contribute thereto, in particular the international exchange.

The Vrnjačka Banja Seminar represents a good example of a successful exchange that has its own tradition and should be further developed.

Serbia's membership in TISPOL should be strengthened.

We should suggest for TISPOL to become active participant and co-organiser of the gathering.

Vrnjacka Banja, November 2010

The Republic of Serbia achieved good first effects of the Road safety Law, however, the positive effects of the Road Safety Law are in decrease, therefore it is necessary to:

- Establish important road safety institutions in accordance with the Road safety Law
- Improve all road safety institutions operation
- Ask from all institutions to fully implement the Road Safety Law
- Prepare and adopt strategic documents related to road safety at the national, local and all relevant institutions levels
- Further enhance various road safety factors coordination-further improve cooperation.

The organisational and programme committee of will follow the Seminar up with preparing, printing and disseminating the Seminar Proceedings.

All the presentations will be translated and printed in the Proceedings annex.

We should start preparing the next 10th Seminar in time (November 2011) by sending invitations to the authors and review the possibilities for improving interactivity.

In addition, we will do our best to timely select good topics that will mark the 10th jubilee international expert congress “IMPROVEMENT OF ROAD SAFETY POLICING”.
